

FuturesIreland appoints Marian Vickers, CEO Northside Partnership, to Advisory Panel

The Northside Partnership is delighted to announce the company's Chief Executive, Marian Vickers, has been appointed to the National Advisory Panel of FuturesIreland.

FuturesIreland is an ambitious and creative initiative which will examine the current assumptions and beliefs that orientate practice, thinking and policy making in Ireland and in doing so will work to develop greater insight about future possibilities. The project is being undertaken by the National Economic and Social Development Office (NESDO), at the request of the Department of the Taoiseach and the Social Partners.

The project is designed to develop greater capacity for foresight and innovation across the Irish economy and society as well as in the processes of governance and decision-making. In order to achieve this goal the project design has taken into account lessons learned from a wide-range of Irish and international foresight exercises.

The aim of the project is to develop governance, decision making processes and public policy so that our society - people, communities, businesses and public institutions - has a greater capacity to anticipate and create a future that is consistent with their aspirations.

The project is headed by a National Advisory Panel, supported by a Project Executive from the NESDO